

SUMMARY

Katarzyna Fellner

Family in the eyes of a mentally handicapped child

The purpose of this article is to show substantial's information's about perception of a parental attitudes by weak-minded children in the lower school age.

Introduction contains miscellaneous definitions of family, short description of family ties, tasks of the family and a few words about parental attitudes , of styles of the upbringing. In view of subject matter the whole article, there was added a short description of mental impairment.

In the next part, there is placed research problems, working hypothesis, specification of research tools and description of study groups.

Next section present results of the researches carried out in years 2005/2006 on group of 30 children. The purpose of study was to answer to the question: "How a weak-minded children in the lower school age, perceive their parents?".