

Mariusz Korczyński

Katedra Pedagogiki Specjalnej WSSP w Lublinie
Instytut Pedagogiki UMCS w Lublinie

System of social care for disabled people in UK

There are almost 11 million disabled people currently living in UK, who likewise disabled people in Poland face various problems of everyday life. They are represented by several hundred of organizations offering support and help in various situations. Thanks to organizations like Royal Association for Disability and Rehabilitation – RADAR, Disability Right Commission – DRC, organization which supports disabled and disadvantaged people by preparing them for work – Shaw Trust, which are all regulated by Disability Discrimination Act, these people's lives seem to be easier. This article authors describes in a very compact way, the most important solutions of supporting disabled in UK.