

Wanda Kostecka

Emisja głosu jako ważny przedmiot w kształceniu nauczycieli

SUMMARY

Voice emission knowledge and skills as an essential part of teacher's training

The following article is addressed to the wide audience of career teachers and those who train to become teachers. The author drawing from her experience as a speech and language therapist illuminates the significance of voice emission being a skill that needs to be consciously learned.

Ms Kostecka emphasizes that in depth understanding of breathing techniques, intonation, and articulation are essential for effective teaching. The author postulates that frequently, articulation organs related dysfunctions can be alleviated by any knowledgeable and skillful teacher. Ms Kostecka suggests the said knowledge and skills ought to be taught to and practiced by all those seeking to become teachers in the early stages of their academic and practical training, specifically candidates as well as career teachers having difficulties with speaking.